THE SEYCHELLES

THE BEST BONEFISHING ON THE PLANET EARTH

Northeast of Madagascar and east of Nairobi, in the vast expanse of the western Indian Ocean, lie the idyllic Seychelles Islands. The 115, mostly coralline islands, are sparsely spread over 1.3 million square kilometers. Southwest of the main island Mahe, about an hour by air, lie three postcard perfect coral atolls and the best bonefishing on the planet Earth. Best is not a superlative we use lightly and yet it is not applied nervously. This is the best!

There is no way to adequately describe the bonefishing in the Seychelles. You may see more fish here than you will see the whole remainder of your bonefishing career. One hundred fish days would be a possibility if you chose to waste your time in such a meaningless exercise in arithmetic foolhardiness. Instead, when you tire of bonefishing, you can pursue giant trevally or smaller bluefin trevally that savagely attack poppers or large deceivers. If all this fishing becomes too easy, you can go for the rarest of all Seychelles' angling prizes, the acrobatic milkfish. Milkfish rarely have been caught on a fly. But this elusive fish is one of the strongest found on the world's flats and when hooked, dazzles the lucky angler with blistering runs and huge thrashing jumps. The trip itself begins at the end of a small concrete airstrip carved from the jungles of a coconut plantation on Alphonse Island. The live-aboard Tam

Tam is a short walk from the plane. Most of the bonefishing is done on the huge flats surrounding St. Francois Island. One arrives there after a 30 minute motor southwest of Alphonse, past the smallest and most beautiful island of the group, Le Bijoutier.

Does this sound like an anglers paradise? Wait there is more! The flats are all hard and easily wadeable. Comprised of packed white sand and crushed coral, these hard-bottomed flats are interlaced with beautiful pale blue channels that give fish access to the flats. The fishing is good at all stages of the tide. But on the fringes of the tide, where the water meets the land, lies the best tailing bonefishing on the planet. The experienced angler will immediately gravitate towards these areas especially on the rising tide where bonefish tails glint suggestively in only inches of water. Yes, this is heaven and yes, all your previous standards of bonefishing success will be shattered.

Is there a downside to all this...of course! It is 6 hours to Paris and 9 hours from Paris to Mahe, then another hour to Alphonse.

"We caught bonefish on poppers, grasshopper flies, bare brass hooks and 4/0 Lefty's Deceivers attached to 40 lb. braided wire."

"There were days when we were never out of sight of bonefish. You could catch, or at least cast to a fish whenever you wanted. The question was never how many fish you could catch in a day, the question was how big a fish could you find to stalk."

There are no traditional guides and no flats boats, only a fiberglass skiff and a hypalon Zodiac. All fishing is wade fishing and the boats are not even equipped with push poles. The two friendly and affable guides, Donald and Paul, know the fishing and can definitely always find fish. The rest is up to you. If this makes you at all nervous, on our first trip to the Seychelles we had a beginning bone fisherman who hadn’t casted a fly rod in 10 years and he caught over 100 fish for the week!

“At the outside rim of the reef, where the waves crash against the atoll, is the place to hunt for the big bones. The biggest fish I landed today was 13 or 14 lbs. and I lost the biggest bonefish I’ve ever seen along with my flyline and half my backing. He took a gotcha off the surface and he probably went between 16 and 20 lbs... amazing.”

The meals are superb. Fresh fish is served at every meal. More often than not, the evening’s fish is caught by handlining at the Tam Tam’s mooring during cocktail hour.

“When your arms got tired of catching bonefish, giant trevally, bigeye trevally, and bluefin trevally, we played a game we called ‘counting coup’. This involved sneaking up on a tailing bonefish and touching his tail with your rod tip. After we perfected this, we tried sneaking up on tailing bonefish to pinch their tails between our thumb and forefinger. We never made it....but we did come within three inches!”

Grouper, speckled emperor and other sumptuous snapper-like fish are wonderfully prepared. A second entree of steak, chicken or seafood is served every evening and is washed down with cold local beer, delicious South African wine or bottled water. Desserts are homemade and include cheesecakes and chocolate cake.

But perhaps the most important accolade we can heap upon this island group concerns their unspoiled beauty. If you were to design the prototypical idyllic coral atoll, this would be it. These islands are stunning with huge palm trees leaning out over perfect white sand beaches that slope onto pale turquoise flats. Hawksbill turtles, fairy terns and soaring frigate birds constantly monitor your activities. Each island’s lovely lagoon is encircled by waves crashing in on the atoll’s reef sending a fine mist into the bluest sky imaginable.

If you choose to make the commitment of time, energy and money and if you are willing to endure the hassles of international travel and the disorientation of jet lag, you will be rewarded with acres of tails glittering in the soft, saturated equatorial light of a completely deserted and perfect coral atoll.

Late breaking news!... At press time, we have been told that a new lodge plans to be up and running on Alphonse Island by early winter 2000. The crew of the Tam Tam will serve as concessionaire for this lodge. This should be good news for anglers not able to pull together a group to charter the Tam Tam. A small, well-run lodge will also allow fishermen to enjoy their sport while their non-fishing companions explore this incredible atoll in comfort. Please call for more details!

TRAVEL HEALTH

You've done your homework; you've tied flies and knotted leaders, packed and repacked and remembered your passport and visa. It was only this morning that you landed on the strip to begin this trip of a lifetime. But tonight you have a headache and you are nauseated. In a few hours you'll find a case of gut wrenching diarrhea will be added to your quickly expanding list of symptoms. You feel miserable, your trip may be ruined and worst of all, it could have been prevented.

Amoebic dysentery, diarrheal diseases, and parasitic worms are associated with food and water in many of the world's most irresistible angling destinations. You must therefore ensure a proper water source and if necessary, disinfect all water before drinking or even brushing your teeth. It may be necessary to also avoid milk, butter or other dairy products. Drink only bottled or filtered water and ask for no ice in all your drinks.. Make sure foods are well-cooked and served hot. Fruits with skins that can be peeled before eating are best.

But what about Typhoid fever, yellow fever, Dengue fever and Polio? Before venturing to some exotic locale you'll need to know specifically which immunizations or medical precautions are required and which are recommended.

The Center for Disease Control (CDC) issues recommendations for US travelers in "Health Information for International Travel". This annual publication contains vaccination and certification requirements for endemic diseases on a country by country basis. This publication also denotes potential health hazards worldwide by geographical region. This information is updated in the biweekly "Summary of Health Information for International Travel". Both the annual book and the biweekly updates can be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, US Government Printing Office, Washington DC, 20402. Your library or health department may have copies available too.

The CDC also has a 24 hour international travelers hotline available to answer your specific questions at 404-332-4559. Call at least 2 months before your departure in order to have enough time to receive the required shots.

The CDC also has a website on the internet. This website has the latest information on recommended and required vaccines and health precautions by country and region around the world. The address is <http://www.cdc.gov/travel/>.

Your health on any angling trip is your most important commodity. Without it, your trip of a lifetime can quickly deteriorate into a nightmare and a wish to just go home. With proper pre-trip information and precaution, that nightmare can be avoided and all you'll come home with is great memories and beautiful photos.

INTERNATIONAL FIRST AID KIT

1. Prescription drugs with a copy of your prescription including written directions for their use. This will avoid customs hassles in countries plagued with drug trafficking.
2. Brief written personal medical history, including allergies and recent illnesses.
3. Medications, including painkillers, antibiotics, antacids, antihistamines and anti-diarrhea medications.
4. Wound management materials, including ointment, gauze, tape, bandages and basic splinting materials.

Note: this is just a starting point. We encourage physicians to submit their recommended medication list to us and we will start compiling a definitive international first aid kit.

IN ADDITION...

Two good books on the subject of traveler's health are, "Traveler's Medical Resource" by William W. Forgey M.D., published by Globe-Pequot Press, 800-243-0495 and "International Travel Health Guide" by Stuart R. Ruse M.D., published by Travel Medicine, 800-872-8633.

Herchmer Medical Consultants will prepare, for a small fee, a customized pre-trip update identifying what is new, required and recommended for your visit. Call 800-336-8334.

A free list of English-speaking physicians throughout the world can be obtained from the International Association for Medical Assistance to Travelers at 716-754-4883.

Small, highly efficient water purifiers can be obtained from Big Horn Mountain Sports at 307-672-6866. Ask for Darrell or Steve and they can explain the differences between models and brands.

It is also important to check with your insurance company to make sure international medical evacuations are covered. Often you can add a supplemental policy to your existing one temporarily.

MONTANA HORSEPACK TRIPS

EXCITING NEWS CONCERNING YELLOWSTONE'S SLOUGH CREEK

We just received this letter from Denny Chatlain and he has some important news concerning access by his outfit to Frenchy's Meadow on Slough Creek.

"Hello from Rock'n Seven C Outfitters! 1998 was a great year for our outfit and we would like to thank Scott and the crew at Angling Destinations for all the support they gave us this past season. We saw lots of familiar faces, made some new friends, and actually got Scott on a horse in the Beartooths for some high country fly fishing. I am not sure that Scott's future aspirations include a rodeo career, but I think he did enjoy the horses during our wilderness trip and I know he enjoyed the fishing.

Anyway, we just received some exciting news from the US Forest Service. Our pack outfit is now permitted in the Slough Creek Drainage just north of Yellowstone Park. This greatly expands our fly fishing opportunities in the Absoroka/Beartooth Wilderness. Slough Creek has long been known for its super cuttbroat fishing. The area we will be visiting is known as Frenchy's Meadow and was named for a hunter/trapper that homesteaded in this area.

Frenchy's Meadow is a special place with great fishing, incredible scenery and lots of history. It is accessible only by foot or by horseback via 12 miles of rugged wilderness trail. Frenchy's is bordered to the south by Yellowstone Park and to the north, east, and west by the Absoroka-Beartooth Wilderness. The view from the meadow is incredible. To the west is the elk country of Anderson Mountain. To the north lies Horseshoe Mountain, and to the south Cutoff Mountain. Many creeks enter Slough Creek in Frenchy's Meadow including Bull, Tucker, Frenchy, Wolverine, Lost, and Abundance Creeks.

Rock'n Seven C Outfitters will access Slough Creek by several trails: Lost Creek, Abundance Creek, Rock Creek and by Columbine Pass. All of these routes are scenic and pass through some of the most game rich country that Montana has to offer! This country is home to elk, bear, deer, mountain goat, bighorn sheep and moose. After fishing, our guests will enjoy watching all the critters on the surrounding slopes from the comfort of camp.

Slough is a great fishery and produces cuts up to 18 inches. The meadow is open and casting is easy. However, these big cuts are wary and anglers will have to be stealthy to be successful.

We are excited to add Slough Creek to our operation! More fishing, more wildlife and more scenery. We'll be heading up the trail starting in early July, so get Scott on the phone and make sure and reserve your spot with Rock'n Seven C Outfitters for 1999."

This is great news and promises some excellent fishing opportunities in an absolutely beautiful area. At press time, there were still some weeks open for this summer and it is not too early to plan for summer 2000!

MONTANA BIRD HUNTING

In the early fall, our horsepack outfitter, Denny Chatlain, runs an elk hunting camp in the Beartooths. When the snow starts to pile up in late October, he begins guiding birdhunters for us. This winter, we have been busy making some changes in our operation; adding lodging and expanding our existing services. If you have never hunted with us, we have three areas we hunt: one outside the Crow Indian village of Lodge Grass, one near Pryor and one near Red Lodge. The Lodge Grass ranch is set in the shadows of the Bighorn Mountains where many acres of grain fields are interspersed with brushy creek bottoms and are home to pheasants, chukars and huns. The Pryor operation lies some twenty miles north of the Bighorn Mountains in rolling open country filled with brushy creek beds and long coulees of tall grass. This is a large area and holds good numbers of pheasant, chukar, huns and sharptail grouse. Our lease in Red Lodge is located on beautiful little Willow Creek. To the south, the Beartooth Mountains rise majestically above the horizon. We enjoy pheasant, hun and sharptail hunting in the creek bottoms that are edged with thick willows and wild rose bushes. The sagebrush hills east of the creek are home to many coveys of huns and sharptails. So give us a call and plan your fall birdhunt today.

BELIZE

NEW LIVE-ABOARD WITH MARTIN McCORD

For anyone who has had the good fortune to fish with Martin McCord at Belize River Lodge, you know that Martin is simply the best fishing guide in the country. With Belize River Lodge for the last sixteen years, he has been superbly guiding the coastal waters of Belize and in the process stockpiling a wealth of fishing information. Martin has expertly guided both lodge-based fishermen and has captained one of the motherships from the lodge. Martin is our most requested guide at Belize River Lodge. We have never had a client who, once having fished with Martin, didn't want to return and fish with him the following year.

So here is the really important news: Martin McCord has resigned from Belize River Lodge and is now captain of his own 45' live-aboard yacht. The boat was built wide for both stability and space. There are two staterooms, one fore and one aft, each with two beds and a private bathroom. An eating area separates the two sleeping areas for plenty of privacy (the crew will sleep on top). This sleeping and eating area is completely air-conditioned. There is a tape/CD player, VCR with TV monitor and ship-to-shore radio. Martin will tow two skiffs. This yacht is extremely well designed. Based upon Martin's vast experience, he has been able to decide exactly how his boat should be laid out for maximum comfort, convenience and safety. Martin has supervised every step in its construction.

If you've never experienced a live-aboard trip, the list of advantages over a land-based trip is lengthy. The ability to move well away from population centers allows you to fish remote areas not available to land-based fishermen. Where you go and what you fish are totally up to you. This decision is often made daily after consultation with your captain. You'll anchor in the lee of cays far away from insects and rough water where cool breezes make for perfect evenings. Without the lengthy boat rides home, you can fish the most action-packed period in the tropics, the hour before and after sunset. Plan your meals to eat when you want and then fish, fish, fish!

So give us a call today and plan your live-aboard adventure for next fall or spring. How can you beat the combination of the country's best guide captaining the best boat in the best permit and tarpon waters in the world.

Acklins Wiggler

Hook: Mustad 34007 Size 6
Thread: Color of body
Tail: Long dyed grizzly maribou 2- 2 1/2 x length of body with 2 pieces of Krystal Flash, body same color as
Body: Wrapped Krystal Flash can be over overlapped with larvae-lace or comparable material
Eyes: Painted lead eye
Antennae: Sili-legs

This fly has a great deal of action in the water. Both the maribou and the sili-legs impart the kind of motion that drives bonefish wild. Tie them in tan, pink, orange, cream and olive. If you have tidal current, throw this fly downstream, strip once into the flow and let it sit still with the maribou waving seductively. No self respecting Albula vulpes can resist.

Marlbone Man

Hook: TMC 811S or Mustad 34007 Size 4-6
Thread: G/O to match body
Eyes: Small painted lead eyes or Umpqua painted eyes
Antennae: Krystal Flash
Mouth: Dyed grizzly maribou approximately the length of hook shank
Body: Crystal Chenille
Legs: Sili Legs knotted

This is an excellent big fish fly. The Marlbone Man has a fat profile and brings a "lot of groceries" to the fish. This is an excellent fly for fast moving bonefish that are hell-bent on leaving a flat on a falling tide or charging the flats on a rising tide. This fly will often stop these preoccupied fish in their tracks.

Like the pattern above, the maribou and sili-legs move well, even at rest. This fly is taken from Bob Veverka's new book " Innovative Saltwater Flies" See page 81 and 82.

Tie this fly in orange, pink, tan, brown or off-white.

MEXICO

ASCENSION BAY

If you're looking for a place to take a non-fishing companion, this is it. Playa Blanca is a new and very unique property located 120 miles south of Cancun on a remote and extraordinarily beautiful private island. Ten miles of untouched white sand beaches, lined with coconut palms that stretch as far as the eye can see, are surrounded by the incredible blue of the Caribbean Ocean. The five very private cabanas have private verandas and the service and food are the finest you will find anywhere.

At Playa Blanca you can go fishing for bonefish, permit or tarpon; explore the Tupac and Chac Mool Mayan ruins; kayak a secluded lagoon; snorkel a hidden reef; go birdwatching or you could choose to lay in your hammock and do absolutely nothing at all. Call for details.

NEW BOOK

At the risk of tooting our own horn, we highly recommend a new saltwater flytying book titled "Innovative Saltwater Flies". Published by Stackpole Books and compiled by Bob Veverka, this book is beautifully photographed and contains both patterns and photographs of many truly unique and productive saltwater flies. Take a look at page 76 and see a few of the flies you've seen in our previous newsletters.

BAHAMAS NEWS

SOUTH ANDROS

MARS BAY BONEFISH VILLA

If you drive 15 miles south of the airport at Congo Town, past Kemps Bay and over Deep Creek, you will arrive at the end of the road and the harbor at Mars Bay. Here you will find a newly built, three bedroom, two bath villa complete with central A/C, satellite TV and a full kitchen. Fifty feet from the villa lie two 16' Carolina Super Skiffs with casting platforms and 30 hp Seapro Mercury engines.

The on-site owner, Sardious Smith, has hired local guides, Wilfred Andrew and Trevor Smith, to man these boats and explore the extensive and protected interior creeks of fabled South Andros. These guides are committed to giving your party a full day of fishing, snorkeling or beach-combing. They know the areas well from Grassy Cay to Deep Creek and from Hawksbill Creek to Curly Cut Cay. The flats lie from 5-40 minutes away while the coral reefs begin one mile from the villa. These coral reefs are expansive, healthy and provide excellent snorkeling in 10-25 feet of blue Bahamaian water.

This is a perfect destination for families or friends looking to get way off the beaten path. The villa can accommodate a maximum of 6 people with 4 being fishermen.

Angling Destinations will be visiting the Mars Bay Bonefish Villa in early April and will look into every nook and cranny from meals to boats, guides to accommodations and give you an assessment in time for planning your fall 1999 or spring 2000 trip. On the same trip we will be visiting North Andros and will have a report available on this destination too.

SANDY POINT

PATRICK'S NEW BOAT

The extraordinary guide, Patrick Roberts, has just purchased a 28' center console Mako. The Mako is equipped with twin 200 hp outboards. This boat opens up the possibility of blue water fishing in the prolific waters surrounding Sandy Point. Also, Patrick will now be able to motor to incredible Mores Island on days when it would have been impossible in his flats skiff. Patrick also raised the possibility (for the hardy explorer) of overnighing aboard and exploring some of the outer reaches of the marls and cays north of Mores Island. We will keep you posted on developments. If you have an idea, let us know and we will get Patrick to quote a price.

BAIR BAHAMAS

Bair Bahamas Guest House is completely sold out for spring of 1999 and close to being sold out for next fall. If you are interested in this exceptional lodge, we urge you to think about booking for spring 2000. Quite simply, Bair Bahamas offers the best guides, boats, food and accommodations on Andros. No wonder everyone who books Bairs ends up going back again and again. Please call today, don't wait.

BANYAN BEACH

AT TREASURE CAY

Finally up and running with new Flatsmaster skiffs that can be poled in less than 8 inches of water, new 50 hp Johnson motors and the best guides on north Abaco. Banyan Beach offers excellent poolside accommodations on a 3 mile long white sand beach that National Geographic Magazine called "one of the world's ten best beaches". This is an excellent destination for couples and a perfect spot for both anglers and nonanglers. Call for new brochure.

PELICAN BAY

GRAND BAHAMA ISLAND

If you have booked Pelican Bay through another agency you need to pay very close attention to the following news. On Dec. 3, Pelican Bay reservation agent, Jim Hoffman, was unexpectedly replaced. Jim recruited and had a strong relationship with the guides for Pelican Bay. In their two successful years of operation, David, William, Jeffrey and Joseph Pinder had solidified their reputations as outstanding guides while providing their clients with outstanding bonefishing. At the end of February, the Pinders left Pelican Bay and decided to establish their own bonefish operation naming it Grand Bahama Bonefishing Ltd. They have selected Xanadu Beach Resort on the south shore of Grand Bahama Island for accommodations. The Xanadu has tennis courts, a scuba center, bars, restaurants, swimming pool, a private beach and golf available on a nearby course. The Pinders will be using new Dolphin Superskiffs outfitted with leaning bars on the casting deck and poling platforms on the rear. These boats are equipped with radios and life preservers and powered by new 90hp Yamaha engines.

Angling Destinations does not know if Pelican Bay plans to recruit and train new guides - on this we will keep you posted. We do know that we can fill you in on all the details concerning this situation and that we will be booking a new name, Grand Bahama Bonefishing Ltd. An organization that will be manned by old and reliable faces within the bonefishing world.

SALTWATER LEADERS

There is a great deal of conflicting information available concerning saltwater leaders. There seems to be a myriad of leader recipes using many different knots, section lengths and materials. In an effort to reduce this confusion, we offer a schematic primer on important saltwater leaders, their uses, knot options and section length ranges. We hope this helps clarify your "Terminal Tackle". In our next newsletter, we will go over IGFA Specification leaders.

TAPERED LEADERS

TYPE ONE

This is the simplest leader for use on species that do not have mono-cutting teeth, gill-plates, spines or skin such as bonefish or permit. These leaders can be purchased (pre-tied or knotless) or hand tied. We are showing purchased tapered knotless leaders.

Leader length 7-13'

Tippet 12-24"

Palomar Knot
or Improved Clinch

TYPE TWO

The same as above with the addition of an abrasion tippet. This leader is used on moderately sharp-toothed or gilled fish when a stealthy presentation is still needed. Perfect for species such as snapper and snook.

Leader length 7-13'

6-12" 30-100lb. mono
